

Institute of Physiology.

The University, Glasgow.

11th April 1932.

Dr P. del Rio Hortega,
Dear Sir,

I am at present pursuing a course of research into the innervation of the lungs. The investigation has been so far of a purely histological character. At present I am working with Professor E.P. Cathcart in Glasgow. With a view to gaining more facility in histological technique I went for a short period of time to the Laboratory of Professor Boeke at Utrecht. I should very much like to visit the laboratory at Madrid with a view to carrying on my research, hence I write to ask you if I could possibly do this.

In addition to the research on the lungs I am interested generally in clinical neurology and I should very much appreciate seeing something of the routine of the Madrid School. I hope that I am not asking too much of you

Should you find it convenient to have me at Madrid I will be free from the beginning of next September.

Dear,

Yours very sincerely,

John B. Taylor.