IN REPLY REFER TO

Professor Pio del Rio Hortega,
Residencia des Estudiantes,
Madrid, Spain.

Dear Doctor Del Rio Hortega:

On the occasion of the recent visit of Dr. Wilder Penfield to this city he told us about your superlative work in the histology of the nervous system. Some of your articles I have had occasion to read but unfortunately many of them are not available to us in this part of the country. Dr. Penfield tells us that it is impossible to get a true concept of the work that we hope to do without having access to your very critical and profound studies on the brain. In order to give your work suitable recognition I would appreciate securing reprints of your articles which have appeared in the last few years on the histology of the brain. I assure you that they will be made good use of and I would feel greatly honored to be a recipient of such reprints.

I remain, dear sir,

Very sincerely,

Cybil B. Courville M.D.
